Provost Staros explained that each faculty member had a specified course load and the course load could consist of both traditional classroom courses as well as other types of teaching like advising independent studies, doctoral students, etc. It was moved and seconded:

To recommend that the Board take the following action:

To approve the B.S. in Sustainable Food and Farming and the B.S. in Turfgrass Science and Management and the B.S. in Sustainable Horticulture at the University of Massachusetts Amherst as contained in Doc. T12-074.

Geoffrey Buckle, a second-year medical student at UMass Medical School, described his research this past summer on Burkitt Lymphoma in Kenya and Uganda with Ann Moormann of the Medical School’s Departments of Pediatrics and Quantitative Health Sciences.

Erin Webster, an engineering student at UMass Lowell, described her three research trips to Hyderabad and Bhimavaram in Andhra Pradesh, India through Professor Krishna Vedula and his organization, the Indo US Collaborative for Engineering Education. Ms. Webster’s work in India included setting up Assistive Technology Labs and mentoring students from B.V. Raju Institute of Technology and the Sri Vishnu Engineering College for Women.

Khayla England, a junior at UMass Dartmouth, described her two summers of research in nuclear physics in Lund, Sweden through an NSF funded International Research Experiences for Students (IRES) program.

Alex Eisen-Cuadra, a doctoral student at UMass Boston, described his work in Haiti to develop a sustainable plan to protect Haitian fisheries, focusing on the country’s largest lake, Étang Saumâtre.

Jessica He, a sociology student at UMass Amherst, described her summer study abroad experience in Chiang Mai, Thailand as a Benjamin A. Gilman Scholar under the Education Abroad Network. Ms. He enrolled in two courses at Payap University, “The Struggle for Human Rights in Southeast Asia” and “The Economics of the Sex Industry in Southeast Asia”.

There was a discussion between the panelists and the Trustees that included the topics of accessibility and obstacles to participation; promoting study/research abroad programs; faculty engagement; curriculum challenges and opportunities; and alternative global experiences. Senior Vice President Williams thanked the panelists and referred to the database of global opportunities for students and faculty on the University’s website.

Information Items:

Chair Lee asked for any questions or comments on the materials provided on the topics of the Academic Quality Assessment Development/AQAD, the Periodic Multi-Year Review/PMYR and the Fall 2012 Admissions and Enrollment Preliminary Report. There were no questions or comments.
President Caret then provided a briefing on the Peer Review Process/Peer Selection, Certification and Approval. He noted that the process for choosing existing and aspirant peers was always done at the campus level, focusing on IPEDS data. President Caret has asked each of the Chancellors to work with the President’s Office to review the campus-level peers collaboratively to enable an ongoing discussion and have a series of mechanisms to help guide the campus decision-making. Annually, one campus and its peers will be reviewed in detail with the Board. Trustee Carpman asked about the relationship between this process and other external comparisons, like U.S. News and World Report. President Caret noted that it was the same data and that different organizations use the data in different ways. Trustee Carpman then asked if it was important whether or not the University’s chosen peers matched those of external entities. President Caret replied that there would likely be coherence between the two. He also noted that each campus had different peers and different trends and that it was helpful to take a holistic view of the System.

Chair Lee then asked the Committee to vote to enter into Executive Session pursuant to Massachusetts General Law, Chapter 75, Section 4, for the purpose of considering Appointments with Tenure, UMass Amherst, UMass Boston and Awards of Tenure, UMass Worcester and Honorary Degrees, UMass Amherst, Boston, Dartmouth, Lowell, Worcester.

It was moved and seconded and the Secretary called the roll with each Trustee asked to vote yes or no to enter into Executive Session for those purposes listed. Chair Lee voted for the motion as did Vice Chair Osterhaus-Houle and Trustees Carpman, Peters, Quattrochi, Reville and Xifaras.

The time was 1:37 p.m.
